

check out all the fun things on the walls, like bulletin boards in dorms and event posters. pick up a newspaper and read through the campus news, or stop by the campus radio station. all these things show what the campus community looks like, what they care about, and what you can look forward to if you attend.

use Page 25 in your navigate book to rate all the aspects of the colleges you visit, then compare them. did you like the dorms more in one place, but liked the food less? taking notes will help you choose which one feels like a better fit for you.

take a virtual tour of the college's social media channels, both the official social media but also social media from student clubs and organizations that matter to you. what stands out to you, if anything? do they have clubs that matter to you? does the food look good in the dining hall?

don't worry if you can't make it in-person. colleges often have virtual tours & info sessions you can attend.

check in with your gear up coordinator to see what tours are coming up!

visiting campus doesn't mean you only have to tour! schedule a meeting with a financial aid officer, attend a first year class, sit in on a sports practice! if you ask, you'll probably be able to do all these things and more.

when you're deciding where you want to go to college, visit the campus again to really solidify if you want to attend there, or if you've changed since you first visited.
